Hello 2026!

Our resolution? More fun!
More programs, and community engagement, and more visits from schools.

This fall we had two very special visitors, Phil Pepe and Roger Biagi. They were the main initiators responsible for saving, and acquiring the right of way of the Putnam Division of the New York Central Railroad. This was part of a plan to create a series of interlocking trails and parks stretching the length of the county, and beyond. They presented the museum with artifacts from the time when the 'Old Put' ran the rails. If you traverse the paved path, walking or biking, you have them to thank!

Speaking of railroads, visit the museum to see our upcoming exhibit featuring 'The Ol' Put'!

Cool News!

We more than doubled the visitors numbers from last year.

A scroll of parchment with a textured, aged appearance, featuring irregular, torn edges. The text is written in a black, serif font, centered on the scroll.

During this winter season, we have been working hard to organize the extensive amount of written material, maps, and artifacts, in our possession to try to simplify the research experience. Shout out to our high school interns and Ability Beyond for their help in this process!

The museum had a wonderful visit with a coordinated group of home-school students. They came from several different municipalities to take advantage of our unique offerings. The tour helped enrich their curriculum studies of Colonial life. The kids loved perusing our library of rare books and enjoyed crafting toys related to that time period. We are grateful to be recognized as a viable source of local genealogy and Yorktown history.
